EIGHT MEN KILLED IN M'CURTAIN MINE

O.C.C. TEAM HERE TO MEET TIGERS THIS AFTERNOON

East Central is Picked as Winner in Second Home
Battle of Season.

GOLDBUGS BOLSTERED

Recovery from Injury of Several Stars Boosts
Visitors' Chance.

Goldbugs and Tigers—preachers and pedagogues—were to battle on college field this afternoon.
This is the second home game Coach M. Z. Thompson's Tigers have played this year and much interest was shown by football fans here when the Oklahoma City College team went on the field against the Tiger clan.

Coach Thompson reported this morning that several of his men were still not in the best of form due to injuries. Thomas will be out of the game entirely and Kapps and Smith are suffering from sprains. Thompson will have three new men to appear on the sublist, however, players who have made rapid progress in recent days of practice.

Goldbugs are reported to be strengthened by the recovery of several regular players who were knocked out in the opening game with Edmond. Their game today will be the first since the initial game in which the regular line-up has appeared. This lessened the prospects for a Tiger victory.

Reading, former star of Ada high school team, will be on the field in a Goldbug uniform this afternoon. He will be in the line with Anderson, star basketball man who is also known here. Many other stars known to fans here through their basketball playing, will be on the Goldbug line. Coach Cottrell will be with his men. They arrived two hours late due to the stalling of the M. K. and T. Passenger train near Shawnee this morning.

Briggs to Officiate

Officials for the game will be the Briggs brothers. Briggs of Shawnee, who officiated in the Ada-Shawnee game here last year, will be referee and Briggs of Okmulgee will be umpire. Both men are former football players and have a reputation of being among the best posted football officials in the state.
Thompson said he would start Lee and Reed at ends, Kapps and Kerr at tackles, L. Smith and Brown at guards, H. Smith at center, Kelly, Cunningham, Vernon and Mon-gomery in the backfield. Sheppard and McCoy will be substitutes for the backfield. Morrison and Johnson will be substitutes for the line and Culver and ends.

Oklahoma City College has already been defeated three times this year by overwhelming scores.
Edmond defeated them in the opening game 62 to 0. Weatherford Teachers defeated the college 77 to 0 and Durant administered a 102 to 0 defeat last week. No team has yet scored on Coach Thompson's eleven and he expects to keep this good record today.

A Heavy Field
Prospects pointed to a heavy field this afternoon. If this proves correct, the chances for the Tigers to win by an overwhelming score will be reduced and it will also add to the chances of the visitors to score.
"Bullfrogs" were planning a number of stunts. They were out in a demonstration last night and were given free passes to the McSwain theatre. Attendance at the game was expected to be large despite the threatening weather.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM OFF FOR GAME AT PURCELL

Coach Cox and his squad of youngsters left at noon today for Purcell where they will play a football game this afternoon.
The team was composed of Potts, Carr, Baker, Hargis, Smith in the back field and Nettles, Wright, Morris, Willoughby, Molloy, Rayburn, Gregg, Smith and Whitwell in the line.

This will be one of the three hard games facing the local team this year. Purcell has won several hard contests but was defeated by Ardmore. Ada hopes to repeat the victory of last year, when the teams played on an Ada gridiron.

history of the Lone Star state,
is expected to be played here tomorrow when the University of Texas meets Vanderbilt University. Old Vandy last week held Michigan 0-0 at Nashville strongest teams in the south.

The game will be broadcasted play by play.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. —
Harvard men in New York are betting 3 to 2 against Center on the eve of the Harvard-Center battle at Harvard Saturday. This is the third time these teams have met. Friends of Center in New York are repeating the old saying "you can always tell a Harvard man but you can't tell him much."

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. — Jeff Smith defeated Capt. Bob Roper in a 15-round bout be-

can Legion convention here yes-

a spectator. It was a one-sided

FRENCH PLEASED AT RECENT TURN

Press Views Lloyd George
as Enemy to Freedom and United Country.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 20. —The dominating note in the French press concerning the fall of Lloyd George's cabinet in England is that that change cannot fail to make negotiations for the settlement of European problems easier. To the majority of the papers, it is looked upon as a victory for France.

Le Matin expressed in vivid terms the hope that France never again will see Lloyd George. It says:
"He leaves the British Empire dislocated, separated and in discord. He leaves Europe disarticu-lated, torn and disunited."

"He destroys in play the most notable thing that exists among peoples—freedom, honesty and confidence. He has reestablished the old balance of power among nations that had been, it was thought, discarded for good and all."

"Lloyd George, France hopes never to see you again."

BONAR LAW MAKING PROGRESS ON CABINET

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 20. —Andrew Bonar Law appears to be making rapid progress today in forming a cabinet to replace the fallen coalition government. It was announced Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Derby have agreed to serve under him in any capacity.

Mr. Bonar Law cannot officially announce the formation of his ministry until he is elected head of the Unionist Party to succeed Austin Chamberlain but it is generally conceded that this election will be only a matter of form.

The political caldron in England is seething as the country has not seen it in long years, and none today was hardly enough to predict what brew would emerge from the strange mixture that is cooking, whatever fate might have in store.
It was certain however, that Mr.
Lloyd George was entering a stage of his career which would call for all his skill and craft.

It was equally certain that he would prove a difficult opponent in the coming battles, as there are admittedly few men in the country who possess such ability in the art of politics as he.
Former Premier Asquith, who was in the country when he learned of the collapse of the Lloyd George government, rushed back to town this morning to confer with his colleagues as to what line the liberals should adopt and other conferences were proceeding among the various party leaders.

It is the decision in high political circles that the government which Mr. Bonar Law has in view will be prepared to continue in all essentials the work of the late ministry. The keynote of his progress, it is indicated, will be the strictest economy in internal administration and a better understanding with the allies in international affairs.

Brass buttons were introduced in England in the latter part of the seventeenth century.

DEPUTY MARSHAL DIES IN STRANGE MANNER AT TULSA

City, County and Federal Officers Investigate
Today's Mystery.

RED LIQUID IS FOUND

Poison Ended Breathing
is Theory Followed: Peculiar Attack.

TULSA, Oct. 20. —City, county and federal officials are investigating the circumstances surrounding the mysterious death late yesterday afternoon of Deputy United States Marshal George W. Hanna, following a short but sharp illness in a room in a downtown hotel eight hours earlier. Hanna never regained consciousness from this puzzling attack, for which physicians have been unable to account.

A bottle of red liquor, said by Mrs. E. L. Seiby, proprietress of the hotel, to have been given her by the man soon after she found him in his room, is being analyzed by local laboratories to determine whether the liquid contained poison which might probably have deprived him of respiration, the cause of the marshal's death.

According to the dead man's daughter, Mrs. Virgie Siefert, 918 South Bristow Avenue, with whom he had been staying, he left home yesterday morning after eating a light breakfast. At eight o'clock he engaged a room at the hotel. From the hotel he was taken to a hospital where it was necessary to keep him alive by pulmotor through the early afternoon.

U. S. ATTORNEY'S OFFICE IS BEING BADLY CONDUCTED

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. —Charges against the conduct of the office of the United States District Attorney at Chicago were found to be well founded by Edgar B. Tolman, and John R. Montgomery, representatives of the Illinois and Chicago bar associations, in a report to United States Attorney General Harry
M. Daugherty, made public today.

Responsibility for unsatisfactory conditions in the office was not charged against District Attorney Charles F. Clynne, the incumbent, personally, however, but the investigators recommended a reorganization of the office; appointment of a special prosecutor to dispose promptly of pending business; that the district attorney be made responsible for the selection of his assistants, and their subsequent conduct; declared that there can be no enforcement of the law, until the district attorney is "entirely freed from possibility of political control."

WIFE OF RECTOR QUARRELED WITH CHOIR DIRECTOR

(By the Associated Press)

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 20. —
Authorities investigating the Hall-Mills murder mystery today were checking up details of new information which they said mixed tales with facts previously obtained and pointed to a definite solution of the case which baffled officials and detective of Middlesex and Somerset counties for more than a month.

They were said to be weighing a story to the effect that Mrs. Francis M. Hall, widow of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. Eleanor Rhinehart Mills, choir singer, who was murdered with the clergyman, quarreled shortly before the Halls left New Brunswick for a vacation last summer, and that the ill feeling was pronounced after the vacationist returned.

MAY DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT. BONAR LAW DECLARES

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 20. —Premier Designated Bonar Law in a message to the newspapers this afternoon said:
"If I am elected the head of the conservative party I may be in a position to ask the king to order the immediate dissolution of parliament. This would give plenty of time to get the Irish home rule bill through."

Heads Legion

Alvin M. Owsley.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. —Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas, today was elected commander of the American Legion at the annual convention here.

Alvin Owsley was introduced by Commander MacNider.
"Please accept my heartfelt gratitude," he said, "for the greatest honor that comes to one who served in the world war."

"We pledged to America in the world war that we were her defenders. We must pledge even greater service now."

"There are four great principles on which we rest: hospitalization, rehabilitation, adjusted compensation, Americanization."

"I pledge the best energy of my manhood and my sacred honor."

With Judge Knesaw Mountain Landis, the new and old commanders of the Legion posed on the platform for a photograph.

Owsley was carried on the shoulders of Texas legionnaires to a place on the platform beside the retiring commander MacNider, who grasped his hand and then turned to the assembly. The Texas band broke loose.

While Mac Nider jerked the gong violently, "Bill" Deegan of New York, elder of the defeated candidates, made the move that the vote be made unanimous. The vote was announced as follows:
Owsley 574, Deegan 251, Thomas 205, McCormick 12.

FATHER AND SON MOBBED BY BAND

Men, With Faces Blacked, Overpower Sheriff and Shoot Prisoners.

(By the Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Oct. 20. —Ed Hartley and his son, George Hartley, recently convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Connie Hartley, Ed Hartley's nephew, in Benton county last February, were removed from the jail at Camden at midnight and shot to death in a vacant lot 200 yards from the jail.

News from Camden is that the mob, numbering between 25 and 50 men with faces blacked, appeared at the jail and overpowered Sheriff D. G. Flowers, took the Hartleys and, marching them to the vacant lot, riddled them with bullets. At the time of the killing of Connie Hartley, last February, his father John Hartley, was seriously wounded, and was at dad's door for several weeks. Ed and George Hartley were convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Benton county circuit court September 22, and made a motion for new trial.
At the time of the trial, Ed Hartley, son of Ed Hartley, and Still Conley, a boy, were acquitted of the charge. This was the first case of mob law in Benton county's history.

MANY INJURED AS STUDENTS ENGAGE IN NIGHT BATTLE

Gasoline Bombs and Clubs Brought Into Play as

PARTY INTERRUPTED

"Pajamarino" Festival May Have Caused Death of California Youth.

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20. —More than a score of Los Angeles college students were injured, one possibly fatally, as the result of burns from "gasoline bombs" and from blows on their heads and bodies here early this morning in a riot following a "pajamarino" party on the campus of the Southern Branch of the University of California.

According to the students of the southern branch, they had gathered for the "pajamarino" party when more than 500 young men, rumored to be students of a rival university, arrived in automobiles and attacked with "gasoline bombs" and gasoline bottles filled or saturated with gasoline. They attempted to set fire to a woodpile that had been gathered for the party.

A fight followed. Clubs, fists, torches, and any other weapon
handy were brought into play.

Police Are Called
A riot call brought police from all stations and more than 200 gathered before the fracas could be quelled. Succeeding in the endeavor, the attackers set fire to the woodpile. The glow caused a fire alarm to be set in and the fire department was sent to the scene.
Several students lay unconscious on the campus when the police ambulances arrived.

It was reported that one was taken to a hospital dying from a broken neck.

The occasion for the gathering was a football celebration in honor of the game with Occidental college tomorrow. Southern branch students said they "were sure" the attacking forces were not Occidental students.

PUBLIC IS URGED TO USE PATIENCE IN RAIL STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. —The vital part that railroads play in the welfare and prosperity of the country and industry as well as the country at large was stressed by C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, who addressed the annual convention of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers here today.

"A few months ago railroads found it difficult to provide storage space for idle equipment and now they are hard pressed to supply cars needed for the transportation of coal, farm products, building and construction materials and many other commodities," Mr. Markham declared.

"Business will continue to be good and railway traffic will be heavy this fall and winter, and there will be some unavoidable inconvenience to shippers. However, if the public will be patient, realizing the handicaps under which railroads are struggling and will be liberal in support and co-operation, we can go through the winter without serious distress."

The problem of transporting the nation's farm crops, usually reaching peak volume during the fall months is further handicapped this year by the additional coal shipments necessitated by the strike which made shipments impossible during the slack summer months he said.

"The 1921 farm crop was sown and brought to harvest materially reduced costs when compared with the last few years. This means that farmers bid fair to make profits that can be spent in the purchase of goods."

"Industry generally has been getting back to normal after the long depression, although its return has been interrupted by strikes. Now, however, the industrial skies are clearing and we shall find the employment situation improving constantly."

MRS. STATEN IS DEAD IN DENVER MESSAGE STATES

Mrs. W. J. Staten, who has for a number of years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Wilson at the corner of Townsend and Eighteenth, died Thursday evening at 7:30 at the home of her son in Denver, according to information received this morning by Mr. Wilson.
The funeral will be held in Dallas
Monday. Mr. Wilson and Yandell Lain will leave Ada either tonight or Saturday to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Staten left Ada about six weeks ago to visit her son, C. S.
Staten, at Denver, thinking that the change of climate would do her good, but the desired results were not obtained. She was eighty years old.

Mrs. Staten is a daughter of the old South. She grew to womanhood in Georgia and recalled Sherman's march to the sea, as her home lay in the track left foodless and otherwise devastated by the soldiers.
She has lived in Ada for some time and many have come to know her intimately.

ALL TEACHERS IN COUNTY TO COME

Most Schools in County
Will Send Delegates to District Meet.

Almost a 100 per cent attendance of county teachers at the seventeenth annual meeting of East Central Educational Association to be held November 2 to 4 in the college auditorium, was predicted Friday by County Superintendent A.
Floyd.

Unusual interest is being shown by teachers throughout the county for the meet, Mr. Floyd declared.
Meeting of the association this year, as far as Pontotoc county is concerned, will be perhaps the most enthusiastic ever held, according to the county superintendent, and will reflect a year of phenomenal growth and progress for rural schools.

Mr. Floyd has just returned from an inspection trip to many outlying schools of the county and reports rapid strides in improvement of buildings and increase in size and quality of facilities.

Maxwell school, recently completed, was dedicated today. An all-day celebration was held by the district and as a luncheon featured the occasion. Superintendent Floyd visited the school Tuesday and found it in a prosperous condition. It is a 4-room brick building with an auditorium. The school employs three teachers.

Center Adds Teacher

At Center, Mr. Lunsford of Duncan has recently been added to the faculty. This school has five teachers and is giving two years of high school work. It has 1200 students in high school with 25 in the senior class. B. K. Stubbs is superintendent and Mrs. A. L. Bullock is principal of the high school.

grees.

All county schools will be in session within two weeks Floyd re-

FIVE COUNTIES OPEN ROAD WORK

Two Mile Stretch Will Be Clayed and Put in Good Condition at Once.

After several months delay and much negotiations between the five counties concerned, county commissioners of Pontotoc, Murray, Garvin, McCain and Pottawatomie counties have at last started work on repairing about two miles of the Ada-Shawnee road directly south of the Canadian river bridge.

They have worked out plans for the repairing of the road. The sandy stretch will be clayed, the material being found in pits a short distance away. Money for the work was raised by the counties concerned. This will open one of the best roads crossing the Canadian, it is believed.

Ada Good Roads Motor club and the road organizations of neighboring counties aroused interest in this work.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 20. —The French plans for a financial control of Germany, presented to the repa-

day, suggested the immediate creation of a committee of the world's leading business men to deal with Germany and determine the extent of pay and consider the question of the inter-allied debt. It would leave the financial settlement of the quest on, no ever, to the proposed Brussels conference.

LLOYD-GEORGE RETIRES.

After the close of the World war there was a general movement to get rid of the men who managed it. Of course all on the German side went at once and one after another the allied leaders were retired until only Lloyd-George, premier of Great Britain was left. He was so firmly entrenched and so adroit a politician that he withstood all clamor and every attack launched against him for nearly four years. He has now joined the others and the entire world has had a change.

Lloyd-George has had a stormy career. As a member of the Liberal party he took part in many hard battles the most notable of which was a new land taxation law under which the big estates were forced to pay their just share of taxes and which fight finally resulted in the house of lords losing most of the power it had in legislation.

When the war broke out Lloyd-George took a prominent part in shaping the policy of Great Britain and as a result of attacks of the Northcliffe press on the methods being pursued Premier Asquith and most of the cabinet resigned Lloyd-George was made prime minister and headed a coalition cabinet. All parties being represented in the cabinet forced a combined support of the cabinet and its policies. At an election for members of parliament held shortly after the close of the war Lloyd-George was again victorious.

Of course no man can remain many years in public life without making bitter enemies and Lloyd-George is no exception to the rule. However, few men have ever been more capable of holding their own against any sort of attack and it was no easy matter to overthrow him. He now finds himself in a rather peculiar position. As the head of a coalition government he was no longer leader of the Liberal party nor did he claim membership with the Conservatives. Now he is a man without a party. He may return to the Liberals, but will have to fight his way to the leadership in the face of bitter opposition if he is to be a power in politics again.

However, the time has not yet come when Lloyd-George's political obituary is to be written. Gladstone was defeated time and again but always came back. In fact, he was prime minister four times, the people changing their attitude each time after he had lost. He was past 80 when called to the head of the government the last time. Lloyd-George may stage a spectacular comeback in the development of some crisis when his counsel and guidance is needed. His countrymen may change their opinion of him when they have tried the leadership of some one else of lesser ability.

RELIABILITY IS FIRST PRINCIPLE.

One thing that is drilled into every newspaper man is to report truthfully and correctly. At the beginning of his career as a news-gatherer and a news writer he is told that reliability is the first essential to his success. He learns for himself in a very short time that any slip from the line of reliability is costly.

"Every newspaper reporter in the country knows his job is not worth two cents if he is detected intentionally misrepresenting facts or misquoting what has been told him," says the San Francisco Chronicle. "His job is to tell the truth of what he sees and hears, and in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred he can be depended upon to get things straight and to write exactly what has been told him."

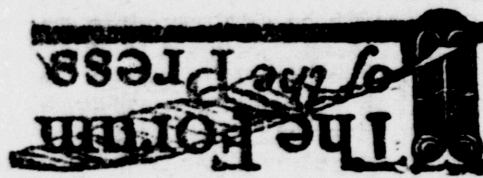

Yet it is a favorite cry among men and women from one end of the land to the other: "You can't believe a word of what you read in the newspapers." Why is this? Do those who say this really believe it?

There are a few, doubtless, who really look upon newspapers as unreliable. Some of these live in the backwoods, others are ignorant or uninformed. But when this statement is made by persons in leading walks of life, who should know better and do know better, another reason must be sought.

"It is time for the newspaper worm to turn," says the Chronicle, which arraigns the financiers who denies the rumor of a deal which soon after is negotiated, the public official who gives an interview which he repudiates when he finds he was unwise and others who deliberately mislead the newspapers.

These it is who are loudest in condemning the reliability of the newspaper, but the reporter knows who is to blame. He has made conscientious efforts to get correct information from reliable sources. He knows he was deliberately misled. He also learns, as he gains experience, whom he may safely quote without requiring the statement in writing.—Fort Worth Record.

Eastern seaboard newspapers are filled with interviews of returned Americans who say in Europe America is the most hated nation in the world.

However, that doesn't stop Americans from plying their European relief work to the extent of about $100,000,000 per year.

The Near East debate will call able organizations alone, according to Red Cross and Near East Relief officials.

There are said to be at least 300,000 Greek refugees without food and many without clothing or shelter. In Asia, in addition to Armenians, Jews, Greeks and other refugees, there are still 300,000 Russians, many still dependent upon charity, largely American, for a living.

When news of the Smyrna disaster reached the United States, the Red Cross cabled $100,000 to Admiral Bristol, without a moment's hesitation, in spite of the fact that it had decided to pull out of the Near East.

Of this sum, $50,000 was for canned milk; the rest was for medical and other aid. Subsequent information showed that 100,000 orphans had been thrown upon charity for food. The $50,000 cabled for milk saved many of them.

Russian Relief last year called for more than $50,000,000 of American funds, administered through the American Relief by Secretary Hoover.

Another enormous sum was needed to feed the children of Poland, Austria, Hungary, and other Central European countries. Most of this was done by the American Relief and allied agencies.

Many folks are saying that while Uncle Sam may be storing up treasures for himself in heaven, he is getting precious little appreciation from foreign quarters here below. But those who are engaged in this work are angered by this attitude.

They say, and rightly, that when scores of thousands of helpless victims of the blunders and villainy of those who would govern them are perishing, many of them children and mere babes in arms, it is no time to heed the revilings of those who think they hate us.

Fortune Teller.

The New York stock exchange will soon bring out a stock ticker running about a fifth faster than the model that now brings the sad news to the gentlemen who spend their days in chairs before the blackboards in brokerage offices and bucket-shops.

It seems that the sad news doesn't come fast enough. On a busy day the ticker sometimes runs a quarter of an hour or more behind prices on the floor of the stock exchange.

Since the market can do a lot of shifting in 15 minutes, plungers will welcome a faster-paced ticker. It brings them closer to the battlefield where their dollars are fighting heavy odds.

The stock ticker was invented by a preacher, Dr. Samuel S. Laws, back in civil war days.

A gold exchange had been established in New York, to adjust the price of gold at regular intervals, thus letting bankers and other business men know what their paper money was worth on a gold basis.

A board of trustees, met each morning, to adjust the price of gold. As they emerged from conference, hundreds of messenger boys pounced on them, eager to rush the gold price to bankers, brokers and merchants. The trustees, by the time the messengers got through mobbing them, sometimes had to buy new clothes.

So they jumped at the chance when Preacher Laws showed them sketches for the first electrical ticker machine. Young Thomas A. Edison had charge of the telegraphing service.

The first stock ticker, of course, were crude compared with the machines in glass cages that spit out quotation ribbons today.

More than 7,000 tape tickers are now in use, four-fifths of them recording the price waves of stocks and bonds.

Of all machines invented by man, the stock ticker is easily the most interesting. Daily it regulates the emotions of hundreds of thousands of people.

What a story it could tell, if it could talk! In the main, the story would be tragic—blasted hopes, exploded dreams, thefts, prison terms, lost fortunes and suicides. The brighter side—the story of lucky strikes—is the flame that lures the moths.

Hoover and the Foreign Debt.
(Oklahoma)

In his address at Toledo, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared that "repudiation of the loans made by the United States to the allied and associated nations during the war would undermine the whole fabric of international good faith."

Also, that such cancellation would not be fair to the American people from whom the American government borrowed the money which was lent the allied and associated nations at the latter's urgent request. If the allied and associated nations should repudiate their indebtedness

They are claiming reparations and territory as a result of the war, and they can use these to help pay their indebtedness to the United States, which gained nothing to pay for her participation in the war.

8-4-1mo.MOVING OF RAIL
CAUSE OF WRECK
ON WABASH ROAD(By the Associated Press)
WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 20.—Belief was expressed today that the removal of a rail caused the wreck of Wabash east bound train No. 2 near here last night, causing the death of three persons, the injury of seven others and destruction of seven coaches by fire.This belief was expressed by Conductor Frank W. Hulbust of Detroit and a number of passengers.The conductor said the rail was not removed from its place but that the spikes had been loosened. Someone who knew the operations of railroad signals must have tampered with the rail, according to Hulbust, as the wires were left in place so as not to disturb the signals. Passengers on board the train also reported after looking at the rail that they believed someone had removed the spikes.

Uniforms for Band.

Preparations are being made by the high school band for a big con-

CUBA CONSIDERS REPRISAL STEPS

Enactment of Fordney Bill Unites Split in Ranks of Financiers.

(By the Associated Press)
HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 20. —Enactment of the Fordney tariff, with its increased duties on Cuban products, has served to unite the inchoate and divided sentiment in Cuban financial and commercial circles for a revision of the Cuban-American reciprocity treaty.

Through Secretary of State de Céspedes, the enormously capitalized sugar and tobacco interests are pressing their case. Denouncement of the present treaty, signed in 1902 and granting Cuba a 20 percent preferential, and the conclusion of a new commercial pact, with an increased preferential, is asked.

Since assuming last July his dual role of Secretary of State and Minister to the United States, Dr. de Céspedes has made rapid progress in his work of laying the ground floor for treaty revision. Data has been compiled showing how the present reciprocal arrangement, under which American exporters virtually have a monopoly in the Cuban market, is claimed to confer more benefits on the United States than Cuba.

Confer With U. S. Cabinet
Coincidentally with his statistical endeavors, the secretary is conferring with Major General E. H. Crowder, personal representative of President Harding, the members of the cabinet, congressional leaders, officials of the principal commercial and industrial organizations of the island and is in frequent communication with the Washington state department.

With the 1.76 Fordney sugar duty finally fixed, the campaign of the Cuban sugar interests for more favorable treatment has been carried from publicity to diplomatic channels. Through local manifestations, newspapers, committees of defense and other unofficial means both in Cuba and the United States, the cane forces did their utmost to secure a reduction in the emergency tariff rate. Their efforts now are being directed to document adequately the state department in its treaty revision negotiations.

Tobacco Forces Unite
The Cuban tobacco interests, less aggressive and more deliberate in their campaign, have finally joined forces with the sugar men and Cuban diplomacy. In a long exposition of the decline of the Cuban tobacco industry, the Union of Cigars and Cigarette Manufacturers of the Island of Cuba has just presented formally its case to the state department.

While admitting that every nation has taken care to hit tobacco imports with heavy imposts as an article of luxury, the cigar makers take particular exception to the American duties because of the alleged insufficient preference given Cuba in view of the virtual monopoly enjoyed by America exporters in supplying Cuba's imports. The decline in exports to the United States from 101,689,560 cigars in 1889 to 20,967,656 in 1921 is outlined and the claim made that, even if a revision of the reciprocity treaty, as the tobacco men request, increases the preferential rate from 20 to 50 per cent, and brings Cuban cigar imports back to the 1889 figure, this would be only a drop in the bucket compared to the present annual manufacture of 8,000,000, 000 cigars yearly in the United States.

While the state department is pulling the diplomatic strings, congress is considering more direct measures. Numerous projects for tariff reprisals against countries discriminating against Cuban projects have aroused a sentiment strong enough to open hearings on a revision of the tariff to protect Cuban industries. This was requested by President Zayas in a message to congress on July 21, 1921.

DIDN'T KNOW HIS BROTHER

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year, I didn't know him. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet on May's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was as good as ever." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Gwin and Mays and druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

Romance of Man Is Tied up In Calendar

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. —The evolution of the calendar, from the days when man could count only from day to day, through the time when the lunar month was reckoned as a "year," to the present time of an almost universally used time counting system, is a romance of the history of man. Piecing together the few known facts of the calendar's life story, scientists have found different interpretations and uses for well known facts and remains of early life.

For instance, according to Moses B. Cotsworth, writing in a recent publication of the Pan American Union, the well known Egyptian pyramids were not erected by early monarchs of that realm, as monuments to their greatness nor as tombs for their bodies; but were huge sun dials with the aid of which the yearly precession of the equinoxes was discovered and the calendar devised.

The pyramids were constructed by mathematicians and astronomers, Mr. Cotsworth holds. The size, height and slopes of each being determined to aid astronomy. Each of the piles in lower Egypt was built at a different period, until the last was found to be the more nearly perfect for studying the sun and stars on the meridian of Egypt. Not until each was abandoned for a better, he claims, was a pyramid given over to the uses of a royal tomb.

Pyramid Is Devised.

The pyramidal form, in conjunction with the obelisk, was devised to cast a shadow of sufficient sharpness to be measured and marked day by day. The wonderful Washington Monument, at Washington, D. C., which shadow measurements found to be constructed perfectly from base to peak, while following the form of the Egyptian obelisk, is too high, he found to cast a shadow useful for solar measurements. The blending of the sun's rays around the top, at that distance, blurs the shadow. However, he declared, the shadow was used for certain measurements which prove that September 23 and not the 21st is the day of the fall equinox.

The pyramid was the result of the Egyptians' efforts to get a sufficiently long shadow to measure the months and years more accurately, and along its sides the early astronomer gazed to mark the movements of the stars and planets.

Stone henge, an ancient monolithic ruin in England, attributed to the Druids, was another mechanical means of determining solar and lunar movements, it was said, as was the purpose also of several other similar ancient stone constructions in various parts of the world.

Crops Depended on It.

The primary reason for the calendar in early days was the need of knowing when to sow and reap, how to handle cattle and to determine other propitious days. All peoples, it is supposed, used the periods of the moon as their longest time space, but this was varied and unequal through the year. Noah, it was said, adopted the early Egyptian calendar of a five month year, 30 days to the month and three ten-day weeks, as a better way to ration the tribal supplies.

Bundles of small sticks were the first known means of actually keeping track of the passage of days, and even today some American Indians keep five bundles of 30 sticks, pulling out one stick each day. The last bundle is repeated in each half year to even things up, and the middle bundle is split in two equal groups to determine the approach of midsummer and midwinter days. In the Fiji Islands the "moon stick" was used, on which a notch marked the waning of each moon.

The Hebrews evolved a six month year when Jacob set out stakes from a central position in a line to the horizon to mark where the sun rose and set on the longest, shortest and median day of the year. The extreme ages given to early Bible worthies were attributed to counting "moons" as years and later 5 and 6 months as full years.

Methods Kept Secret.

One of the means used by the early priesthoods, to impress the masses, it was explained, was the secrecy attending the determining of the seasons and years. Sacred rods used to measure the shadows by which the time of year was determined, were jealously guarded, and when, on the set date, the priests measured out on the ground the lengths of the shadows, the ceremony was accompanied by great show.

Today, in Borneo, expert calendar makers among the Dyaks have secret measuring poles. They travel over the country setting up measuring rods and setting in the ground pegs at certain distances by the secret rods. They tell the farmers to plant, cultivate or reap when the pole's district court of Pontotoc county.

Two other paroles were granted recently by executive act. They went to Buck Hall and Ed Bishop. Hall was convicted of Larceny of an automobile in the district court of Pottawatomie county April 10, 1920, and was given a seven-year sentence, and Bishop was convicted in the Grady county district court Feb. 11, 1922, of passing a bogus check and given an eighteen-month sentence.

THIRD ELEMENT IN THE VACUUM TUBE

Grid Added to Fleming Valve by Dr. Lee DeForest Was a Big Improvement.

Any device which will pass electricity in one direction and will wholly or partially obstruct the flow in the opposite direction is termed a rectifier, because when connected in the path of an alternating current it will suppress one-half of each cycle and therefore the circuit will be traversed by pulsating direct current. A rectifier also is said to possess unidirectional conductivity, meaning, of course, that it will conduct electricity in one direction only. Its ability to rectify currents of extremely high frequency determines its application in radio.

Due to its ability to rectify high frequency alternating currents the two-element (filament and plate) vacuum tube can be used in a radio receiver as a detector.

Fig. VI is a simple radio receiving circuit employing this type of two-element vacuum tube in place of a crystal detector.

Dr. J. A. Fleming of London, England, was the first to use a two-element tube of the type just described as a medium of rectifying high frequency radio currents. Fleming called his product a valve because it would let current flow in one direction but not in the other direction. The Fleming valve as a forerunner of the vacuation of the grid circuit I-J-K-L. The battery in the grid circuit is called the "C" battery.

As a start let us suppose that "C" battery voltage is zero. The operation of the three-electrode tube would then be exactly like that of a two-electrode tube, just as though there were no grid. Like a two-electrode tube when the filament C-D is brought to incandescence by the "A" battery a steady stream of electrons will be given off, which will be drawn over to the plate E. Plate E is maintained at a positive potential with respect to the filament by the "B" battery.

Now if the grid is made positive with respect to the filament, it is possible to accelerate the flow of the electron stream from the filament to the plate; if the grid is made negative with respect to the filament, the flow of the electron stream from the filament to the plate will be retarded. Or in other words, by making the grid positive or negative with respect to the filament, it is possible to increase or counteract the space charge. The third electrode or grid thus offers a means of controlling the current in the plate circuit without changing the plate potential or the filament temperature.

The characteristic curve of a three electrode vacuum tube is shown in Fig. VIII. This diagram shows the relation of grid potential to plate current, assuming that the filament temperature and plate voltage remain constant.

It can be seen from the curve that by applying a negative potential of value E to the grid, the plate current can be reduced to zero. The negative charge on the grid will have the effect of a negative potential E with respect to the filament, making the negative charge so strong around the filament that the electrons cannot leave it. On the other hand, if a positive potential of value F be applied

14 RUSSIAN PRISONERS SENTENCED TO DIE FOR TREASON UPON SOVIETS

(By the Associated Press) MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—Sentences of death were given 14 of the 24 social revolutionists accused of high treason against the soviet government. The sentences were passed by the revolutionist tribunal before whom the revolutionists were tried. Among the convicted were several who turned informers.

Three of the others were acquitted and the remainder given prison sentences of from two to ten years.

Sensation followed upon sensation in the drama of the Russian revolution which has been unfolded in the theatrical setting of the trial.

A Strange Court. The proceedings of the court were so different from the American and Western European conceptions of jurisprudence that, to the neutral observer, it seemed more of a thrilling melodrama than a serious trial in which human lives were at stake.

A brother was arrayed against his sister, former political companions were bitterly pitted against each other; and the sharp divisions made by the Russian civil war between former friends were displayed day by day in a colorful tableau set in a frame of bayonets.

Openly announcing that the proletarian system of justice was different from that of any other, the presiding judges of the revolutionary tribunal permitted far wider latitude to both prosecution and defense than could be imagined by an American jurist.

Prisoners were permitted to speak at will, to interrupt witnesses and to make long political addresses from the benches where they sat, day by day, guarded by khaki clad soldiers with bayoneted rifles. At one time some of the prisoners arose and threatened to withdraw from the trial. Again they argued with the presiding judge that the hours of sitting were too long.

Felt Doom Coming.

"They feel that they are doomed; for several years they have been imprisoned and now, while they have the chance, they are going to talk politics," one of the counsel for the defense said in explaining the prisoners' attitude. From the very beginning of the trial on June 8 the principal defendants took the stand that they were responsible, not to the court, but to history and to their own consciences, and thereupon they began to carry on an unruly program that might well have shocked an American judge into having them put back in their cells and ordering the trial to go on without them.

Most of the court's rulings were against the defendants. Because of this Emil Vanderveke, Belgian once a minister in the Belgian cabinet, and a representative at the trial of the Second, or Amsterdam Internationale withdrew in disgust and went back home. He had been permitted to enter Russia as counsel for the defense. With him went Herr Liebknecht, brother of Carl Liebknecht, the "martyr Communist of Germany;" Herr Rosenfeld and Herr Waters, the other foreign counsel sent in by the Socialist internationales to defend their political co-believers.

Representatives of the Third or Communist Internationale reached an agreement with the Amsterdam and Vienna, or the milder Internationales prior to the trial by which foreign counsel were to be admitted into Russia, and the defendants guaranteed against a death sentence. In return the other Internationales promised to call a congress for a "united front" of all the Internationales against capitalism. This conference, the Communists contend, was to have been convoked during the Genoa conference. This was not done, and the Russian representatives declared the agreement had been broken, placing the responsibility on the other Internationales. Therefore, the Russians announced, they were not bound to refrain from sentencing the social revolutionists to death.

The open propaganda made against the Socialist internationales in Moscow, and the repeated decisions of the court against the defense, aroused their ire more than has any event of the last 50 years and embittered the feeling between the once united "reds" and "pinks." Each side accused the other of bad faith.

Death Is Demanded.

An event unprecedented in the history of courts the world over occurred June 20, the anniversary of the assassination of Commissar Voladarsky, one of the men whom the social revolutionists were accused of causing to be murdered. On that day in Moscow thousands of workmen were ordered to parade the streets and demonstrate, demanding the death of the defendants. Representatives of the demonstrators, despite the objections of the Russian lawyers who remained in court to defend the prisoners, were permitted to harangue the court, and the judges themselves thanked the mass of workmen for the "inspiration" they had given them.

The assistance given by the Social Revolutionists to American, English and French troops at Archangel and in other expeditions; the plots against the lives of Lenin and Trotsky, and other acts of alleged high treason were detailed in court in building up the case against the defendants. Most of the prisoners admitted they had worked against the Bolsheviks in the civil war, and some defiantly said they would continue to do so. But excepting a few who turned informers, they all denied participation in assassinations.

One of the most dramatic incidents in the long course of thrills was when Gregory Ratner, one of the defendants, was on the stand. His sister, Eugene Ratner, also a prisoner and one of the principals among the accused, hysterically hurled interruptions at her brother, Alexander, demanding what had become of their other brother who had been killed by the Reds while demonstrating in Moscow in favor of the Constituent Assembly.

LIQUOR PIRATES THRILL FLORIDA

Booze Smugglers Held Up on High Seas But Can't Murmur of Loss.

(By the Associated Press)

MIAMI, FLORIDA. When Bobby hies himself to the hayloft or crawls under the house and in wide eyed wonder peruses a paper backed chronicle of Morgan, Captain Kidd, and other gentry who roamed the seas under the Jolly Roger, he usually expresses regret that he did not live a century or two ago so he could have joined the adventurers.

The boy may not know it, but these sea rovers are on the job again and the escapades of liquor pirates off the south-eastern coast of Florida and in the Bahamas, of recorded in a book, might cause Bobby to regard Morgan, Kidd, and Company with less awe. Morgan and Kidd were forced to depend upon sails for motive power but the modern pirate has a gasoline motor and puts to sea in a boat that will move faster than any sailing vessel ever built.

He overhauls a liquor runner, holds it up, steals all, or as much of its cargo as his vessel will carry, waves his hand to the luckless owner and disappears to land his loot at some unfrequented cove on the Florida coast. Others have landed on small keys in the Bahamas where cargoes of liquor for rum runners have been assembled, and raided the warehouses.

Reports Not Frequent

Official reports of piracy have not been frequent. The liquor smugglers who have been held up at sea charge the occurrence to profit and loss and make no complaint because they are law breakers, themselves. The pirates naturally do not tell about their operations but numerous stories of hold-ups and robberies leak out through underground sources and there is every indication that prohibition officers are not the only people the liquor runners are constantly on the lookout for.

Hanford Mobely, 18, held in jail at West Palm Beach as one of the four men charged with the robbery of the Bank of Stuart, at Stuart, Fla., several months ago, also has a piracy charge hanging over him. Just what part he is believed to have taken in a sea hold-up the federal authorities have not stated but they have announced that if Mobely was granted his liberty on bail, or was acquitted of the robbery charge, he would be arrested immediately on a federal warrant charging piracy.

The most recent case of alleged piracy to be made public officially resulted in the shooting to death of George Edgecomb, negro master of the British schooner William H. Albury, at Cat Key, in the Bahamas, a short distance from here, and the theft of between $2,000 and $3,000 from the vessel. The robbery occurred July 20. The Albury, according to British officials, has been engaged in the rum carrying trade between the Bahamas and Jamaica. Dody Carey, cashier aboard the Albury, was sent to Miami by the British Commissioner at Bimini, to tell the story of the hold-up to the British vice-consul and state and federal officials here.

The Albury was at anchor at Cat Key, Carey said, when an auxiliary schooner said to be the Falcon appeared. Three men were aboard the Falcon and after anchoring they boarded the Albury and informed Captain Edgecomb they wished to purchase a cargo of liquor. They were entertained, by Edgecomb during the forenoon while the crew piled $2,100 worth of liquor on deck to be transferred to the Falcon, according to the account.

Bookkeeper "Stuck Up"

At noon the Albury's crew except Edgecomb and Carey went below. Carey was working on his books in his stateroom when one of the visitors appeared, pointed a pistol at him and ordered him to hand over what cash he had. Carey gave him more than $2,000. The other visitors in the meantime had gone below and covered the Albury's crew with pistols. Edgecomb was pacing the deck within view of the cabin when one of the men saw him. The master was ordered to enter but seeing the pistol turned his back. A shot was fired and the captain fell dead.

The crew of the Albury then was locked in the cabin and the visitors departed. The prisoners, Carey said, regained their liberty within a few moments.

The Falcon, which had been absent from Miami several days, having been loaned by its owner, to a man said to have recently been released from the Florida penitentiary, was found at her mooring in the harbor here the next morning, having entered port sometime during the night.

CHAPTER SEEN IN MANY GUISES IN "IDLE CLASS"

"The Idle Class," Charles Chaplin's latest production for Associated First National release, is to be shown at the American theatre for two days, starting today.

"The Idle Class" contains many features not hitherto seen in Chaplin comedies. While Charles appears in many of the scenes clad in his regulation attire, later he dons the garments of a gentleman of leisure and doubles in a number of scenes.

But still later Charles can be seen in a suit of armor, while at a masquerade. He finds it rather cumbersome and disadvantageous, especially when the visor will not work at the moment that he is trying to imbibe a cocktail, but nevertheless later in the evening he is thankful to the fates that he is wearing the steel and iron, for the husband of the handsome young dame with whom he falls in love discovers that the armor is impervious to his fist.

There is a surprise finish to the comedy, also. And at the end Charles is beating it from thence in a remarkable hurry, with 400 pounds of enraged wrath galloping behind him.

3,150 BALES OF COTTON HANDLED BY ADA YARDS

Reports Friday indicated that 3,150 bales of cotton had been received at the local yards this season. This does not include gin shipments and a part of the crop handled through the cotton association and other agencies which probably will bring the total to 3,500 bales.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Now that crops are nearly all gathered farmers have a chance to think of terracing their lands and saving the soil. It does not take a farmer to see the damage that is being done every year by washing rains. Already one finds fields that have been turned out because the soil is gone and the land no longer productive. It is a question of saving the soil or letting it wash away and no argument is needed to prove that terracing is a necessity.

I don't care anything about onions in any form, but for the benefit of those who do I am giving the following recipes for cooking which I picked up:

Boiled Onions—Cook in boiling salt water in an uncovered vessel until they can be pierced easily with a silver fork. Drain and season with butter, salt and pepper.

Onions in Cream—Prepare and cook as boiled onions; drain and cover with cream or thin white sauce.

Scalloped Onions—Cut boiled onions in quarters. Put in a buttered baking dish, cover with white sauce, sprinkle with buttered cracker crumbs and place in oven to brown crumbs. For the white sauce use 2 tbs. flour, 2 tbs. butter, 1 c. milk, salt, pepper, paprika.

Fried Onions—Remove skins from 4 medium-sized onions. Cut in this slices and put in a hot frying pan with 1-2 tbs. butter. Cook until brown, occasionally shaking pan that onions may not burn, or turn onions using a fork. Sprinkle with salt 1 minute before taking from fire.

French Fried Onions—Peel onions cut in 1-4 inch slices and separate into rings. Dip in milk, drain and dip in flour. Fry in deep fat, drain on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

Baked Potatoes and Onions—Boil onions as in Boiled Onions. Cut into quarters, place them in a buttered baking dish, pour over 2 tbs. cream, season with salt and pepper, and add a few dots of butter. Boil and mash 3 potatoes with 1-4 cup cream and salt and pepper to taste. Cover the onions with the mashed potatoes, dot the top with bits of butter and bake in a hot oven until lightly browned.

Eggs and Onions—Slice 3 onions very thin, season with salt, pepper, and parsley, and fry until done. Then pour over them 4 eggs, well beaten. Stir until the eggs are set.

Onion Custard—Boil onions and lay in a deep pudding dish. Thicken 1 pint hot milk with 1 tsp. corn starch rubbed into 2 tsp. butter and gradually pour this white sauce upon 2 beaten eggs. Season with pepper and salt and pour the mixture about the onions. Bake until custard is set.

WINE COLOR IS NEW FOR COATS

Wine color is the new shade which is bidding for favor in the winter coat world. Here is a lovely model of bolivia in a rich red wine shade.

Onions and Boll Weevil.

Stillwater, Okla.—"If the boll weevil has tears, let him prepare to shed them now," orates John L. Schad, farm demonstration agent for Haskell county, in the agriculturalized words of Mark Antony.

Onions are suggested as the cause of such grief—onions that are crowding out acreage formerly devoted to cotton.

For several years, Schad says, J. H. Southern, a Haskell county farmer, has been experimenting with different crops with which to supplant cotton. This year, he planted onions—only one-third of an acre of them, it's true, but three varieties of them—red globe, yellow Denver and silver skin—which were dropped in rows alongside his corn field, chopped and plowed like corn and harvested like an ordinary field crop. That one-third acre yielded 100 bushels—or at the rate of 300 bushels to the acre.

Southern, Schad says, is planning to plant more onions. Many of his neighbors will follow his example. So, onions, along with other varieties of truck crops, will crowd out many acres of cotton in next spring's planting in Haskell county.

"NO VENTURE—"

By FLORENCE E. MCABE

"Please stop this nonsense, Dick. I don't love you. Why, I've known you for simply ages, and I will not marry you unless I love you. The man I marry will be someone whom I will meet and fall in love with instantly."

Barbara's face was determination itself, and the word "instantly" was very emphatic.

"So you see, Alice," Dick finished telling his sister, who was herself happily married, and therefore doubly interested in all love affairs, "where I am. I think she loves me, and doesn't know it. That sounds conceited, but I believe it's true. She's the only girl I'll ever love, and how I'm going to have her is beyond me. Alice, she won't even let me touch her!"

Dick's voice was hopeless and indignant, all in one.

Alice's eyes sparkled in a way which Dick well knew. It was a sure sign that her brain was busily hatching some scheme. Alice had never failed Dick, and this was to be no exception to the rule.

"Listen, Dick, I have it. Fully guaranteed. I'll have Alice down here for the week-end. You are to come down on the same train. I'll let you know just which one. Barbara has a wonderful new coat and you, my dear sir, are to foot the bill for a twin sister to that same coat, if I can possibly find one like it in the city tomorrow. Are you on?"

Dick nodded. His face was a study. He was striving to follow Alice, but his face was so blank that his sister laughed outright.

"Then, Dick, you are to leave the train only after you are sure Barbara gets off. Then, no matter who is at the station, you hear, no matter if the President should be holding a wedding reception at the very train steps—you are to rush up and kiss Barbara. She'll be furious, of course, but you can explain the mistake easily because of the likeness of her coat and mine. O. K.?"

Dick's face had brightened, but his smile was soon succeeded by a frown.

"Alice, she'll never speak to me again and then I'll be worse off than before. However, I'm game, and will do the 'Prince, wake 'em up' act. Barbara will be wild. You don't know her."

"I don't know her! I know Barbara and I know you. And what is more to the point, I know girls. Nothing venture, Dick, nothing gain, you know."

The 5:14 was never quite so slow to Dick as it was the following Friday. In the car ahead he caught a glimpse of Barbara, keeping herself, however, well out of her sight. To Dick's wrought-up nerves the wheels seemed to repeat over and over, "Nothing venture, nothing gain. Nothing venture, nothing gain."

As the train stopped at his station Dick braced himself. The time to venture was at hand.

Three strides brought him close to Barbara, and, forgetting his instructions and obeying only his natural impulses, he caught her up in his arms. It would have taxed the strongest imagination to have called that kiss but brotherly. For a moment Barbara was stunned, and then her wrath was poured upon Dick's defenseless head.

If Alice had not appeared hurriedly upon the scene with exclamations of surprise upon noting the likeness of Barbara's coat to the one she herself was wearing, Dick would probably have boarded the train and gone on, not caring where it took him.

"Of course Dick mistook you for me. Naturally he would. My dear, where did you get a coat so like mine?"

Dick breathed a sigh of relief. Thanks be to the stars for a sister like Alice. But the end was not yet.

Dick spent a wretched half-hour waiting for the girls to come down to dinner. Alice's husband had taken himself off, for which Dick was devoutly thankful. Not that Bob wasn't a nice enough chap, but this was no time to talk politics, etc. In Dick's opinion something more than the fate of a nation was to be settled within the next few hours. He turned quickly upon hearing the door of the living room open.

It was Barbara. "Alice will be down in a few minutes," Barbara's eyes evaded Dick's.

"I'm sorry, Barbara, for the mistake I so stupidly made at the station." Dick's face was quite calm, and Barbara could not know that he was secretly calling himself a liar.

Barbara's face flushed. It was a long moment before she spoke, and then her voice was very low.

"Dick—"

"Yes, dear." Was he to win after all?

"All those people at the station saw you kiss me, and they do not know you mistook me for Alice. What—what shall we do?"

"You know, dear"—Dick was smiling now—"people who are engaged to each other sometimes kiss when they meet. Why not become engaged to me and that will give me the privilege of—"

Dick stopped.

"Kissing me again." Barbara finished as Dick's arms closed about her. Alice softly opened the door, beckoned for her husband to peek, and as softly closed it again.

The Privilege of Privacy.
"Fashion decrees that skirts shall be longer."
"I'm glad of it," declared Miss Cayenne. "A bow-legged woman has some rights."

The first recorded life insurance policy was issued in London in 1538.

Carter's Underwear FOR WOMEN

Its slim lines of elegance and ease make a perfect foundation for the most clinging or diaphanous frock. It never pokes up—never slips into view at shoulder or neck; never shows an ungainly bunch or wrinkle.

Smooth-lying, skillfully cut to follow the lines of the figures knit by a special process that makes it wonderfully springy and elastic—it combines all those little, carefully-studied points that have made Carter's Knit Underwear famous among millions of women for its inimitable quality of style.

You can get it in cotton almost as soft as silk; in wool, cotton and wool, or silk and wool. Even in the heavier weights it is not bulky.

It is shrunk and sterilized before it leaves the factory. And no matter how often you wash it—it stays silk-soft and milky white.

Carter's Knit Underwear is made in individual styles to suit every gown and every season; high or Dutch necked, long-sleeved, ankle-length models for the tailored suit or gown; soft, sheer models in silk or tulle, with delicate ribbon shoulder-straps, for evening wear.
